

UNDER THE RADAR

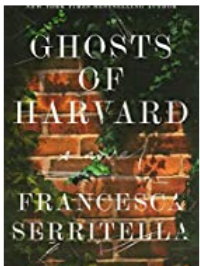

FICTION

MAY 2020

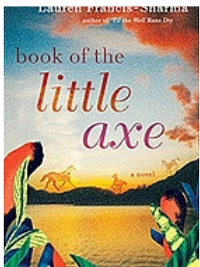

All My Mother's Lovers Ilana Masad

Shattered by revelations about the recently deceased mother who never entirely accepted her sexuality, a gay woman tracks down the men in her mother's hidden second life while coming to terms with new understandings about monogamy.

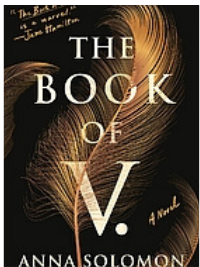

The Ghosts of Harvard Francesca Serritella

Defying her family to investigate the suspicious suicide of her schizophrenic genius brother, a Harvard freshman begins to hear the voices of three paranoia-inducing ghosts from different eras in American history. A first novel.

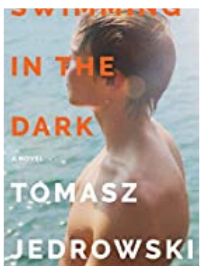

Book of the Little Axe Lauren Francis-Sharma

Quietly but purposefully rebelling against the life others expect of her in late-18th-century Trinidad, Rosa loses her family's farm when her homeland transitions to British rule, before her half-Crow son finds his coming-of-age challenged by decades-old secrets.

The Book of V. Anna Solomon

A modern family woman grappling with sexual and intellectual desires, a Watergate-era political wife confronting a life-changing choice and an independent-minded sacrifice to an ancient Persian king combine to explore enduring women's realities that have not changed for millennia.

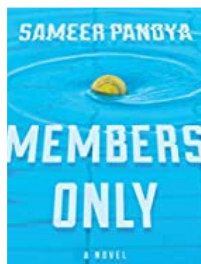

Swimming In the Dark Tomasz Jedrowski

In early 1980s Poland during the violent decline of communism, two young men fall in love but eventually find themselves on opposite sides of the political divide.

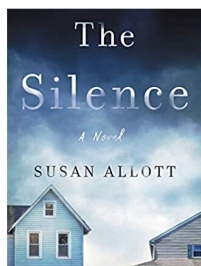

The Anthill Julianne Pachiko

Sent away from Colombia to England after her mother's death, Lina volunteers at a friend's refuge for street youth before unsettling revelations about the community's tragic history are complicated by sightings of a mysterious boy.

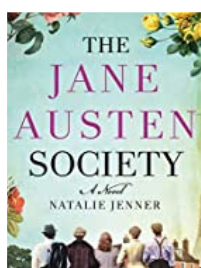

Members Only Sameer Pandya

Telling a joke while playing in a tennis club that he secretly wishes were more diverse, an Indian-American man is accused of racism and banned before a group of students begin threatening his job. A first novel.

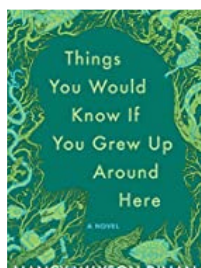

The Silence Susan Allott

Reluctantly returning to her Sydney hometown when her father is implicated in a disappearance from 30 years earlier, Isla confronts devastating secrets about her parents and their long-ago next-door neighbors. A first novel.

The Jane Austen Society Natalie Jenner

A group of disparate bibliophiles bands together in the small English village of Chawton in the hopes of restoring the final home of Jane Austen, revealing their respective losses along the way. A first novel.

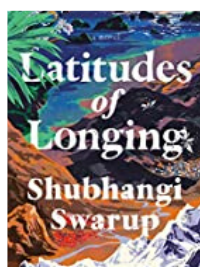

Things You Would Know If You Grew Up Around Here by Nancy Dinan

Returning from a family wedding to find her friend missing during the 2015 Memorial Day floods in Texas, 18-year-old Boyd joins a neighbor in a search that is complicated by the opening of a dangerous back-roads fissure.

Exile Music Jennifer Steil

The daughter of respected Jewish music artists finds her culturally rich life in 1938 Vienna shattered by the Nazi invasion and a devastating secret that threatens her efforts to start over in a Bolivian Andes refugee community.

Latitudes of Longing Shubhangi Swarup

An award-winning debut from India explores the love and longing between humanity and the earth through the stories of a botanist, a clairvoyant, a geologist, a revolutionary's mother, a shapeshifting turtle and other protagonists.