

NYT Bestselling Authors

HOT TITLES

January 2024

FICTION

The Fury
Alex Michaelides

What could be better than a gathering of friends on a private Greek island? For ex-movie star Lana Farrar, it has the makings of a perfect trip. But when things take a turn and the night ends in violence, the idyllic setting becomes the scene murder.

Come and Get It
Kiley Reid

Millie Cousins is a senior resident assistant looking for her next opportunity. When Agatha Paul, a visiting professor and writer, offers Millie a unique opportunity, she takes it. But everything is not as perfect as it seems.

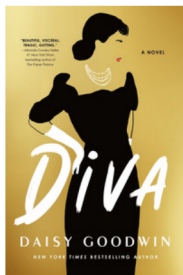

Family Family
Laurie Frankel

India grew up wanting to be an actor. Armed with a stack of index cards, she goes from awkward sixteen-year-old to Broadway ingenue to TV superhero. Her new movie is a prestige picture about adoption, but its spin is the same old tired story of tragedy.

The Heiress
Rachel Hawkins

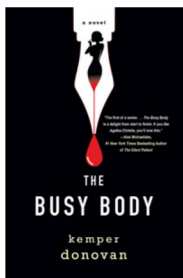

When Ruby Kenmore dies, she's not only North Carolina's richest woman, she's also its most notorious. The victim of a famous kidnapping and a widow four times over, Ruby ruled her tiny town from her family's estate high in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Diva

Daisy Goodwin

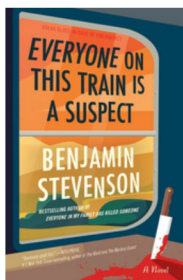

In the glittering and ruthlessly competitive world of opera, Maria Callas was known simply as la divina: the divine one. With her glorious voice, instinctive flair for the dramatic and striking beauty, she was the toast of the grandest opera houses in the world.

The Busy Body

Kemper Donovan

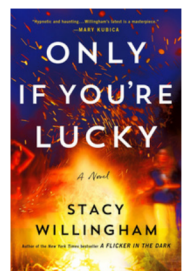

Former Senator Dorothy Gibson is the most talked-about person in the country right now, though largely for the wrong reasons. As an independent candidate for President of the United States, Dorothy split the vote and is being blamed for the shocking result.

Everyone on This Train is a Suspect

Benjamin Stevenson

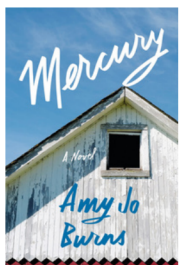

Ernest Cunningham is invited to the Australian Mystery Writers' Society crime-writing festival aboard the Ghan, the famous train between Darwin and Adelaide. But when one of the is murdered, the remaining authors quickly turn into five detectives.

Only If You're Lucky

Stacy Willingham

Lucy Sharpe is larger than life. Bold and dangerous. Especially for Margot, who meets Lucy at the end of their freshman year at a liberal arts college in South Carolina. Margot is the shy one, the careful one, always the sidekick and never the center of attention.

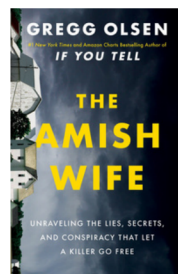

Mercury

Amy Jo Burns

It's 1990 and seventeen-year-old Marley is blazing into the river valley town of Mercury, Pennsylvania. A perpetual loner, she seeks a family of her own. The first thing she sees when she arrives in town is three men standing on a rooftop, blotting out the sun.

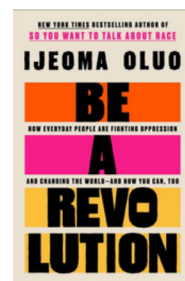

NONFICTION

The Amish Wife

Gregg Olsen

In 1977, in an Ohio Amish community, pregnant wife and mother Ida Stutzman perished during a barn fire. The coroner's report: natural causes. But when her husband eventually rejects the faith and takes his son, Danny, with him, murder followed.

Be A Revolution

Ijeoma Oluo

Looking at our most powerful systems-- education, media, labor, health, housing, policing, and more-- Oluo highlights what people are doing to create change for intersectional racial equity and ways in which the reader can find entryways into change.

Fluke

Brian Klaas

If you could rewind your life to the very beginning and then press play, would everything turn out the same? Social scientist Klaas dives deeply into the phenomenon of random chance and the chaos it can sow.

Robots and the People Who Love Them

Eve Herold

If there's one universal trait among humans, it's our social nature. Socially interactive robots will soon transform friendship, work, home life, love, warfare, education, and nearly every nook and cranny of modern life.